

DAILYBEAUTY™

POWERED BY NEWBEAUTY® MAGAZINE

Welcome Guest

GET DAILYBEAUTY

Enter your email

FACE

BODY

SKIN

HAIR

SPA

SMILE

ANTI-AGING

Vic Narurkar
Dermatologist
San Francisco, CA

FIND A LOCAL BEAUTY EXPERT

Select a Procedure

Zip Code

FIND

← Back

An Ahh-Inspiring Eye Cream

Posted Tuesday, November 08, 2011 by Shellie Terry Benson, Editor

My mornings are extra hectic. One too many snooze-button pushes makes for a rushed scene like a gaggle of pre-teens scrambling to score Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn presale tickets. But there's one moment I've begun to relish and slow down to truly enjoy while the whirl of the morning carries on around me.

It's the few seconds I take apply Susan Ciminelli's Eye & Wrinkle Cream ($95). With its aloe vera gel, shea butter and royal gelee, it glides on silky smooth and is so glorious that it immediately relieves the stress that's bunched up on my face on yet another manic morning. I can practically hear my skin saying, "ahhh."

The cream is also packed with antioxidants like Vitamins E and A, pine bark and lavender that nourish and protect my skin, while seaweed and kuikui nut oil turn back the hands of time (read: those fine lines that are forming). After 10 or so days using the cream I've begun to see less puffiness and definitely smoother, brighter skin. Sometimes slowing down really does pay off.

Related links:

Relieve Tired Eyes in Minutes

The Truth Behind Under Eye Circles

View Comments \(0\) | Send | Save | BUY IT

f Like

Tweet

+1

0

Comments

0 Total Comments | Post a comment