

Susan Ciminelli Dry Skin care package.

As beauty editor, we get to try, well, ...everything. (We know, we're spoiled.) Most lines we give two weeks to a month to see a difference, and most products end up in the beauty product graveyard.

But consider us converted after using the Susan Ciminelli skincare line, which gave us next-day results, and over two weeks, gave us such healthy skin that we went out sans makeup base.

The venerable New York Times dubbed it the "Ciminelli Glow," Jennifer Lopez reportedly swears by the Algae Deep Cleanse, Naomi Campbell and Martha Stewart rave about the entire line, but what mattered to us is that the series of products worked for us.

As with all skin products, it's important to keep to the regimen, which for us (dry skin) means cleansing with the Algae Deep Cleanse ($65), followed by a spritz of the Seawater ($55) , and then applying the most critical product, the Marine Lotion ($95) , a serum oil of algae combined with plant extracts which almost instantly sinks into our skin and doesn't cause break-outs. Depending on your skin, you can add a moisturizer for day and a heavier one for night (we like the Revitalizing Sensitive Skin Moisturizer. $175.)

By far the wonder product is the anti-aging Marine Lotion though, which softens our skin and even over a short period of time, reduced some of our dreaded fine lines. Another keeper is the Seawater spray, whose minerals helps the essential oil penetrate and also create long-lasting moisture. (On stress-full days, we spritz our skin with the Seawater in the afternoon for a skin pick-me-up.)

Susan Ciminelli

If you're not sure which products are right for your skin, try the small travel sizes or treat yourself to a facial at her New York spa or The Sanctuary Spa in L.A. (appointment only) where a Ciminelli specialist can advise you. Now please excuse us while we go spritz.

Tags: Beauty, Ciminelli Glow, Ciminelli skin products, fountain of youth, Latest News, Marine Lotion, miracle elixir, Seawater spray, Susan Ciminelli skin care

f Share On Facebook

Tweet It

p

g+

EVAN HOSIE

Evan Hosie has worked as a Women's Lifestyle editor/writer (expert in the beauty and fashion vertical); created the Pop Culture section for Radaronline.com; never met a gadget she didn't want; and spends too much time on Social Media.