Susan Ciminelli Spa & Salon's Skintyte Treatment uses laser-light to stimulate collagen growth, visibly firming the complexion.

"Our skin care treatments keep the complexion looking-young, without surgery," says Anna Glickstein, aesthetician at the Susan Ciminelli Spa & Salon, a 5,000-square-foot, 11-room space. One such restorative therapy is the Skintyte Treatment, which uses a painless laser-light pulse to stimulate the regrowth of collagen, a vital protein that is depleted over time. Multiple Skintyte treatments are highly recommended, but after one 60-minute session, skin does appear firmer.
