

Cecile Kiehl,
Brandon van Meel, and Julia Ford Miller
at the Hotel Plaza Athénée

Living Well

New Yorkers who want to look and feel their best can take advantage of these resources for health, fitness, and beauty.

THE SUSAN CIMINELLI DAY SPA
BERGDORF GOODMAN, 9th FLOOR
754 FIFTH AVENUE
212.872.2650
www.susan-ciminelli.com

A cherished oasis of tranquility, the Susan Ciminelli Day Spa, offers relief for the body and soul. Renowned in the United States and abroad, Susan Ciminelli shares her comprehensive understanding of holistic healing with her clients and provides them with an enlightened, all-encompassing sense of well-being.

At an early age, Ciminelli started experimenting with herbs, plants and other natural elements, and studied their effects on her own skin. Since then, she has dedicated herself to creating total wellness of the mind, body, and spirit for others, and has developed "The Healing Art of Beauty" to establish complete well-being. Ciminelli implemented her knowledge in the United States over 25 years ago in her small one-bedroom apartment attracting celebrity clients for whom health, fitness, and beauty are a way of life. Her desire for a more natural healing approach prompted her to establish her own day spa and ultimately led her to Bergdorf Goodman. Since then, Ciminelli has successfully expanded to East Hampton and London.

Once embraced in the ethereal calm of the spa, clients can relax amid the serene glow of scented candles, burning incense and soothing aromas of essential oils.

This serendipitous environment is complemented by Ciminelli's unique holistic treatment techniques and products for the face and body. Treatments include customized facials, nutritional counseling, and a variety of massages to suit everyone, aiming to bring the body and soul into balance. Ciminelli intuitively analyzes the lifestyle and needs of each client to create personalized regimens specific to their individual demands.

