Open Wide And Say, Spa!

April 13, 2010

We've been so busy stressing over our taxes—and the inevitable extension we had to file—we almost forgot about Spa Week. Almost. The annual event that gives beauty lovers all over the country a chance to experience choice treatments at a selection of local spas—for a mere $50 each—is back, from now through April 18. Below are our top five picks for getting pampered on the cheap in New York; hopefully, a little budget massage therapy will ease away the memory of that sizable “estimate” check we just wrote to

Susan Ciminelli Day Spa & Salon

What: Ciminelli's signature Seaweed Body Wrap, which minimizes cellulite, reduces stress, conditions the skin, and reduces toxins and water retention. Check, check, check, and check.

Where: 120 E. 56th St., 2nd fl., NYC.

How: To book an appointment, call (212) 750-4441.
